Podcast: How Supercomputers Transform Our World

12 September 2018

What's the current reality of supercomputers? What equipment is involved and how is it tailored to different fields? What problems do they tackle, from understanding the human genome to making financial predictions? And how is Lenovo using supercomputers to transform our future?

Scott Tease, Executive Director of HyperScale and High Performance Computing, joined us to answer these questions and more.

Download the podcast